DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I with Species A in the reply filed on 25 May 2007 is acknowledged. Claim 28 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains legal phraseology ("comprises" in lines 3 and 6). Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. A single claim which claims both an apparatus and the method steps of using the apparatus is indefinite under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear as to what the limitation "at least one of" refers to. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

> Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claim is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 based on the theory that the claim is directed to neither a "process" nor a "machine," but rather embraces or overlaps two different statutory classes of invention set forth in 35 U.S.C. 101, which is drafted so as to set forth the statutory classes of invention in the alternative only. See MPEP 2173.05(p).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
>
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7, 16-18, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cosmetto et al. (5,127,412). Cosmetto discloses a device for aiding in the closure of a wound (see entire document) comprising an external member (body 30) having spaced apart apertures (35), an internal member (shaft 40) rotatably coupled to the external member (30) having spaced apart receivers (apertures 41) in line with the apertures of the external member (body 30), a suture (15) passed through the receivers (41), means for preventing the shaft from rotating in a direction opposite the first direction (45), and a means for applying a rotational force to an end of the shaft to rotate the shaft with respect to the body (12), wherein the device is capable of being placed within a wound of a human or animal if one desires to do so.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 8-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cosmetto et al.

Regarding claims 8-12, Cosmetto fails to disclose a coil spring. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize a coil spring as the means for preventing the shaft from rotating in an opposite direction in the device of Cosmetto as a matter of design choice, since such mechanisms are well known in the art (for example, see Westcott's patent 6,120,525; describes a coil spring for driving the winding action).

Regarding claims 13-15, Cosmetto fails to disclose a coupling for providing a vacuum. However, Applicant discloses that it is well known in the art to utilize drain tubes in open wounds (page 2). Applicant further discloses that a vacuum port is optional and that it is possible to utilize drain tubes adjacent the claimed device, in which case ports and coupling devices are not necessary (page 8). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the device of Cosmetto with a coupling for a drainage tube to extract exudates from the wound, since constructing various elements into an integral structure involves only routine skill in the art.
